

There is just one step to receive your Canada – British Columbia integrated student financial assistance!

Take the Master Student Financial Assistance Agreement
(MSFAA) to a designated Canada Post¹ outlet

With:	Your social insurance number card or a copy of your Canada Revenue Agency notice of tax assessment.
And:	Official government-issued photo identification.
And:	A personal void cheque. If you do not have a cheque, your bank or credit union can help you complete the electronic funds transfer section of the agreement.

This agreement must be taken to Canada Post, who will confirm your identity and forward the MSFAA to the National Student Loans Service Centre (NSLSC) for processing. This agreement must be received at the NSLSC at least 2 weeks before your study period ends. If you delay submitting it, you may not receive your funding.

That's it!

What happens next?

How and when will you receive your money?

Once your loan agreement is processed, StudentAid BC will need to:

» Confirm your enrolment:

- If your school can confirm your enrolment electronically, they will automatically be asked to confirm your enrolment. Your school may ask that some of the funds be paid directly to them to cover your academic fees.
- If your school does not confirm enrolment electronically and it is located within B.C. or Canada, StudentAid BC will mail the confirmation of enrolment form to your school and they will return it to StudentAid BC. Your school may ask that some of the funds be paid directly to them to cover your academic fees.
- If your school is outside of Canada, the confirmation of enrolment form will be sent to your mailing address and you must take it to the registrar's office at your school. Your school will then return the confirmation of enrolment to StudentAid BC. Your school may ask that some of the funds be paid directly to them to cover your academic fees.

» Initiate the disbursement of funds:

- Once your enrolment is confirmed, StudentAid BC will notify the National Student Loans Service Centre and request that your remaining funds be deposited electronically into your bank account that you provide on the MSFAA. Funds will be deposited on or after the first day of classes.
